

Analysis of approaches of Healthcare workers towards COVID-19, using Binary classification and Regression analysis

Hamzullah khan

Abstract:

To analyze healthcare workers approach to COVID-19 through binary classification and regression analysis on 13 different variables vs three dichotomous variables (age, gender and education levels). A quantitative cross-sectional research design was utilized in March, 2020. A total of 158 of the respondents were assessed for their knowledge attitude and approaches towards Corona Virus infection. Relevant information's were collected on a pre-designed Performa prepared in accordance with the

Associate professor, Nowshera medical college, MTI Nowshera

Publications:

Hamzullah khan, exploring Dos and Dont's to corona virus Exposure

Biography: Hamzullah khan is a professor and done Research work and published so many articles

Abstract Citation:

Issn : 24719668

Journal of Prevention and Infection control