Abstract

Introduction: Urticaria are red, itchy welts that result from a skin reaction. The cause of chronic urticaria is not clear in Western Medicine. According to the author, the reactions are consequences of deficiency of Blood, Yin, Yang, Qi energies, formation of Heat retention, and lack of the energy of the chakras centers.

Purpose: To demonstrate that one of the possible causes of the urticaria's problem is in the root or energy level and the treatment of these imbalances could lead to cure of the pathology.

Methods: Two case reports. An eight-year-old girl, who had Urticaria after consumption of pork meat, presenting swollen eyes, mouth and lips, hashes would appear on her skin and once even glottis edema. The second case, 30-year-old female, who presents hives for emotional reasons. Both patients treatment consisted in: 1.Chinese dietary counselling, 2.auricular acupuncture with apex ear bloodletting, 3.Chakras measurement, which appeared depleted (level 1 of 8). They were treated with crystal-based medications and homeopathy.

Results: The first patient presented complete improvement of the crisis, and nowadays she can consume meat pork without allergic reactions. The second patient had diminution of the crisis in the first 30 days of treatment.

Conclusion: In the two case reports described, the depletion of the energy of the chakras was a common factor and the treatment to replenish these energies is important for achieving success in treating the Urticaria symptoms without requiring the use of anti-histamines and corticosteroids that could induce more energy imbalances maintaining the symptoms.
