

DIABETIC KETACIDOSIS MYTHS

Hanan Alhajri
Mafraq Hospital, UAE

Diabetic ketoacidosis is a common complication encountered by Emergency Medicine Physicians, Internists, and Intensivists. Most physicians use the hospital's policy as a guide on their management, since it is driven by the most recent evidence. However, myths still exist in our practice, and unless we challenge everything we do by evidence, we are not giving our patients the best quality of care. The aim of this presentation is to look into myths related to DKA management and challenge them with the most recent evidence.
